

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely Georgian, spanning the bottom of the page. The text is written in dark ink and appears to be a historical document or manuscript. It includes several lines of text, some of which are circled or underlined. The script is dense and characteristic of 18th or 19th-century Georgian calligraphy.